VII. Certain defects in the international application

The following defects in the form or contents of the international application have been noted:

see separate sheet

VIII. Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

see separate sheet

The examination is being carried out on the application documents as originally filed.

Reference is made to the following prior art documents (D):

- D1: TAKADA T: 'Multilingual information exchange through the World-Wide Web' COMPUTER NETWORKS AND ISDN SYSTEMS, vol. 27, no. 2, 1 November 1994 (1994-11-01), page 235-241
- D2: HAHN M: 'UNIFORM RESOURCE LOCATORS' EDPACS, vol. 23, no. 6, 1 December 1995 (1995-12-01), pages 8-13

Section III (No opinion)

- In view of the lack of conciseness and the lack of clarity, it is not at present practicable to carry out a full examination of the application. The examination of claims 2-40 is postponed until these objections are overcome.
- The applicant is therefore requested to file suitable amendments upon which the further prosecution of the application is to be based, and to state clearly the difference of the claimed invention to the prior art documents D1 and D2.

Section IV (Lack of unity)

- 1.1 A total of six different inventions has been found which are not linked to form a single general inventive concept. Therefore the claimed invention lacks unity (Art. 13 PCT). The list of the different inventions is given in the search report.
- 1.2 A partial search report has been established for claims 1-40. Therefore, examination is performed for claims 1-40 only.

Section V (Novelty, Inventive Step)

1. Document D1 discloses a method of WWW page retrieval from a website comprising the features recited in claim 1. The applicant is referred to Figures 1 and 3 where a list box is illustrated for entering information and said information being in a non-Latin language. The subject matter of claim 1 as presently formulated is therefore not novel over D1 in the sense of Art. 33(2) PCT.

Document D2 is relevant for the analysis of information associated with a website.
 This type of information is denominated in D2 as URL and different techniques are discloses of how to analyse and interpret this information.

Section VII-VIII (Deficiencies in Form, Content, Clarity)

- 1.1 The independent method claims 1, 2, 3 and 4 lack conciseness (Art. 6 PCT) and there appears to be no justification for more than one independent claim in this category (Rule 13.4 PCT).
- 1.2 Having regard to the independent method claims 1-4, it is not clear what should be considered as the essential features of the claimed invention. All claims differ substantially from one another with respect to a third step of the claimed method, i.e. "non-Latin information" (claim 1), "displaying comprising analysing .." (claim 2), "information being entered into a URL field" (claim 3), "page is selected resposive to a geographical location" (claim 4).
- 1.3 The independent claims 5-40 put an undue burden on the examiner for determining the subject matter of the claims. According to Rule 6.3(c) and PCT/GL/C-III-3.6, all dependent claims should be grouped together to the extent and in the most practicable way possible. The current set of dependent claims creates obscurity in the definition of the subject matter to be protected.
- 2. The features of the claims are not provided with reference signs placed in parentheses (Rule 6.2(b) PCT). The claims should be adapted accordingly.
- 3. The references to the prior art documents on pages 3 (Rule 5.1(a)(ii) PCT) are ambiguous. It is noted that the reference to prior art documents should be such that these documents are clearly identified (PCT/GL/C-II 4.17 and 4.6) and not misleading. Consequently, a clear reference to those documents should be given.

Other matters

- 1. In order to facilitate the examination of the conformity of the amended application with the requirements of Art. 34(2) PCT, the applicant is requested to clearly identify the amendments carried out, no matter whether they concern amendments by addition, replacement or deletion, and to indicate the passages of the application as filed on which these amendments are based (see also Rule 66.8(a) PCT).
- If the applicant regards it as appropriate these indications could be submitted in handwritten form on a copy of the relevant parts of the applicant as filed. The applicant is requested to file amendments by way of replacement pages in the manner stipulated by Rule 66.8(a) PCT. Fair copies of the amendments should be filed in triplicate.
- 3. Moreover, the applicant's attention is drawn to the fact that, as a consequence of Rule 66.8(a) PCT the examiner is not permitted to carry out any amendments under the PCT procedure, however minor these may be.
